FIRST WAVE SPORTS TO RELAUNCH WITH BEST-IN-CLASS NEW PLAYER SERVICES AFTER CORPORATE RESTRUCTURING

First Wave Sports International, LLC, is pleased to announce that it is launching into an exciting new chapter in its history. After a corporate restructuring which secured strategic growth capital, the company is relaunching its brand and digital presence and offering a brand-new suite of services to its player clients.

Going forward, First Wave Sports will not only offer its clients world-class contract and sponsorship representation services, as it always has, but will now also offer player clients access to team members and consultants to serve them in the areas of technical mastery, physical performance, sports psychology, career planning, financial advisory, legal counsel, and general life support. The company has also clarified its new mission statement: “We relentlessly empower our clients to reach their fullest potential, on and off the field,” which is summed up in the simple phrase, “You First.”

“We are excited to step forward into the next chapter for First Wave Sports,” said the company’s President and Director, Stefani Miglioranza. “As a group with extensive experience in the game, we understand the pressures and challenges faced by professional soccer players, and we know what it takes to be successful. We will never waver from our desire to help players succeed at the highest levels, and our new suite of services and other key initiatives will allow us to holistically meet players’ needs and to reach their fullest potential.”

“The investment group and I are thrilled to be a part of First Wave Sports,” said Ben Boycott, the company’s Executive Director. “The company has a first-class name and reputation, dating back more than 3 decades. We are thankful for the firm foundation built over the years, and we are excited to step into the future with Stefani and the rest of the team at First Wave Sports. We believe that the stage is set for a game-changing organization that will come to revolutionize what athletes expect from their agents.”

First Wave Sports was founded over 30 years ago in the United Kingdom by Graham Smith, former Director of Chelsea Football Club. The company was later relocated to California, where Stefani, an 18-year veteran of professional soccer and a former Smith client, took over the reins as President.
